

Annex – 4 List of Accessible Data

Examples of information you can access through Unifree Services include the following:

- Personally identifiable information (including name, email communications, customized ad preferences and address book);
- Email notification settings (including feedback responses, customer service responses, exception reminders, promotions, and newsletters);
- Your content, devices, services and relevant settings, as well as your communications and interest-based ad preferences;
- Content you have recently provided by contacting us.